Why support Toronto Free-Net?

Non-profit. All revenues go into member services.

Internet offerings that are a great value.

A say in the organization's direction.

Volunteer, and learn new skills (or practice old ones) while helping the community.

Internet lifeline for people with financial difficulties and other barriers.

Toronto Free-Net is volunteer based and volunteer driven.

Toronto's oldest Internet provider, since 1994.

We are a full-service Internet Provider. We are non-profit and completely volunteer-run. We have nearly 50,000 members.

We offer dialup, DSL (HiSpeed & Lite), static IP numbers, dry loop, and other services.

Tech support comes from local volunteers, without the call centre scripts that so often fail to answer your questions. We go beyond tech-support: we teach people how to get the most out of the Internet.

We help each other to reduce the barriers to access. Together, we are the ISP!

We support all operating systems, not just Windows! It's your computer, it's your choice.

We support older equipment and text-only web-browsing for those with special needs.

Our Mission:

We believe that everyone should have access to information, in a non-commercial way.

This means that we believe in supporting those useful things that other providers have found to be unprofitable, such as space to publish your own web pages and a free email address you can keep for life. All free of advertising!

We even provide free basic dialup access.
